VANDEN BERGE PETER & CO, 2724 Fillmore

PETER VANDEN BERGE & CO.,

Old Reliable Water-Proof Paint.

We especially call the attention of property owners to our Old Reliable Water-Proof Paint, the best in the world for Tin Roofs, Damp Walls, &c. Guaranteed to last 25 years without fail. Will preserve metal. Old roofs made equal to new with our paint. All leaks immediately stopped by one coating. Warranted not to contain a particle of any injurious substance. Superior to all paints now in the market. Hot or cold weather does not effect it. Positively will not scale or crack. All we ask is one trial. Every job warranted, as we do our own work. We invite all Tin Roofers to give us a call; it will save them future trouble. Put on in any desired color. Numerous testimonials from our large manufacturers and business men praise its qualities. Tin Roofing, Sheet Iron Working, Heater and Range Work a Specialty.

$5,000 AND 5 PER CENT. ROYALTY

Secures to public favor, for capitalists, THE JAMES WALSH, JR., straightway and also improved 1886 . . . . . .

GLOBE STEAM VALVES.

Patents Granted 1894 with Many Constructions and Devices.

NOTICE.—To supply the trade would take the market. Only one rule, and patented by me, to make these Two-Seated Valves, as seen. The LEVER ACTION—No Packing, 2 Fibre Washers on upper Seat that Steam can't reach, with Regulation Cap, etc. Eight years now in use.

THE AMERICAN STEAMSHIP CO.

We take great pleasure in certifying to the superiority of your Two-Seated Patent Steam Valves of January 12, 1886, over any Steam Valves of our experience in the market. We have them on our steamships and other places up to the present time, and still in good condition, etc.

Also thousands of other firms have them in use with equally the same reliable credit, and not having the different sizes for this Company and others in demand, comes this chance for capital, etc. Look to the merits of construction. Cheap to the market and convincing in all respects. Call or address

Plumbing. Heating. Lighting.

WE have devices costing from $4.00 up, for saving coal and regulating the heat of Stoves, Ranges and Furnaces. You can be more comfortable than you are now the year round and save from 20 to 30 per cent. of your coal bills. The first sales of our Furnace Regulator were to physicians. Their endorsement brought us new customers. It gives an even, regular heat, just as you want it, neither too much or too little. Our Range Regulators are a great convenience in the kitchen, saving coal and worry, and preventing the spoiling of food. It will pay you well to invest in both a

Heat-Control Furnace Regulator

. . . and . . .

Heat-Control Range Regulator.

We have been especially successful in repairs to Plumbing, Heating, &c. We contract to inspect Plumbing and keep it in repair, making periodical visits at so much per year.

WORTHINGTON,

No. 1721 Chestnut Street.

We handle as a specialty the Ridgway Heater, the only heater having an open fire pot, a round grate made in sections to allow for expansion and contraction. Unsurpassed for durability and efficiency. The following testimonials bear witness to its merits:

From Prof. James, of Harvard College.

"After two winters' trial of your Furnace, I can say that they seem to me admirable in every respect. * * * The combustion is absolutely complete. The Automatic Regulator is a great safeguard and convenience. To me it seems quite as important that a Furnace should not overheat the house in mild weather as that it should heat enough in cold. My Ridgway Furnaces stand this test excellently; a fire can be kept just smoldering within them for days without danger of going out."

* * * After burning seven tons of coal in it, I find the pot in as perfect condition as when it was put in last fall. My little boy, three years old, always goes into the cellar with me in the morning, and I have never seen a time when he was not able to turn the crank and shake the fire.

I do not think it possible to make one clinker in this Furnace, if the crank is turned every day. I have not seen a sign of one this winter. I have not dumped the grate since the Furnace was put up. The only poker I have used during the winter is a pine stick, and that was thrown into the Furnace two months ago.

E. J. FOSS, Malden, Mass.

I consider it the most desirable Furnace in the market. It is very easily managed. A few turns of the fire-pot will shake the fire thoroughly and render it clear around the edges where it is usually clogged up and deadened by ashes in other furnaces. The feed-door is low; the ash-pit is large; the radiating surface is very large. No part can be overheated, and the heat in the rooms is always mild and agreeable. The method of shaking is so perfect that the fire can be kept low without danger of going out; and the fineness of the ashes shows how thoroughly every bit of good is got out of each pound of coal.

PRESCOTT KEYES, 42 Court St., Boston.

The Ridgway is the sixth Furnace I have had in my house, and the only one that gave me satisfaction and that I could recommend to my friends. No dust, no gas, and so easy to take care of.

RUSSELL MARSTON, Boston, Mass.

Room 26 (office of inquiry section), is open day and night. M. F. Claridge, asst supt. of mails, in charge. Inquire here for lost letters, held for postage or otherwise unmailable.

Window 34—City delivery division, changes in city addresses and other questions pertaining to delivery in city proper, should be transacted here.

1. Detention or wrong delivery of mail matter should be reported immediately in person or by letter to the postmaster.

2. When a letter is wrongly left at a house, or wrongly placed in a box in the post-office, the fact should be noted in ink on the back of the envelope, thus: "Wrongly left at 206 South Sixth st., Dec. 10th," and the letter should be immediately deposited in the post-office or in the letter box

3. Loss of mail matter should be reported at once to the office. A blank for the purpose can be obtained at the inquiry section, Room 26.

4. All mail matter, that is insufficiently pre-paid, and addresed to points outside of the delivery of the office of mailing, will be held at the office of mailing, and the addressee notified of the amount of stamps necessary to forward same. Mail matter so held will be forwarded immediately upon receipt of the necessary postage.

5. Letters which are forwarded from office of mailing marked DUE 2 cts., etc., are detained at office of destination for rating up. To insure prompt delivery, postage should be fully pre-paid.

6. It is desirable that the printed card or the written name and address of the sender should be placed on every letter or package before it is posted, so that in case of non-delivery it can be returned to the writer.

Postage Rates.

First-Class Matter. — Letters; samples with prices noted thereon in writing; matter wholly or partly in writing; enclosed matter; postal cards having anything attached or any writing or printing on the face other than the address: two cents per ounce or fraction. Money Order Division.

Rooms 41 and 42, Market Street Front.

Superintendent, John B Comber.

Domestic and International Money Orders are issued and paid daily (except Sunday), at Central Office and Stations from 9.00 a. m. to 5.00 p. m.

Charge for Domestic Money Orders.

Not exceeding $2.50				3 cts.
Over $ 2.50	not exceeding $	5.00		5 cts.
" 5.00	"	10.00		8 cts.
" 10.00	"	20.00		10 cts.
" 20.00	"	30.00		12 cts.
" 30.00	"	40.00		15 cts.
" 40.00	"	50.00		18 cts.
" 50.00	"	60.00		20 cts.
" 60.00	"	75.00		25 cts.
" 75.00	"	100.00		30 cts.

A single money order may include any amount from one cent to one hundred dollars, inclusive, but must not contain a fractional part of a cent.

The public is cautioned:

To take all means to prevent the loss of a money order.

Never send the order in the same letter with the information required on payment thereof.

To be careful on taking out a money order to state correctly the given name as well as the surname of the person in whose favor it is to be drawn.

Every person to whom a money order is issued should keep a record of the number, date and name of office of issue, to facilitate inquiry if the order should become lost.

Parties procuring money orders should examine them to see that they are properly filled up and stamped. This caution is necessary to avoid difficulties in the way of payment.

A money order may be endorsed once, but not oftener.

The person who presents a money order for payment must be identified, if unknown to the postmaster, unless identification has been expressly waived by the remitter of the order on his application therefor.

The patrons of the Money Order System are advised that banks in this city receive money orders and postal notes the same as checks and drafts, and persons holding same will find it greatly to their convenience to deposit them with their bankers, thereby avoiding the crowds which frequently throng the lobby of the Money Order Division.

When a money order has been lost by either remitter, payee or endorsee, a duplicate thereof will be issued by the department free of charge, to the owner of the original, upon his making application (stating the circumstances of the loss), to be forwarded by the issuing or paying postmaster, from each of whom he must obtain and furnish a certificate that the original order has not been, and would not be, paid or repaid, as the case may be.

A duplicate order can be drawn only on the issuing or paying office of the original order, and becomes invalid if it bears more than one endorsement, or be not presented for payment within one year from its date.

A money order may be paid upon a written order, or power of attorney, from the payee, as well as upon his endorsement. The written order, or power of attorney, must be filed with the paying postmaster.

A money order which has not been paid within one year from the date of its issue should be forwarded to the Department with an application for duplicate to be furnished by the issuing or paying postmaster.

It frequently happens that the payee of a money order drawn on the Philadelphia Post Office resides outside of the city, and is unable to present said order, in person, for payment. In a case like this, in order to insure prompt payment, the payee should receipt the money order on the face or indorse it to the "Postmaster, Philadelphia, Pa," then send it with a letter, requesting the postmaster to transmit to the payee by mail a new money order drawn upon any money order post office which the payee may designate, for an amount equal to the money order received, less the fee for issuing the new money order.

International Money Orders.

Money orders are issued for payment in Switzerland, Great Britain and Ireland, Germany, France, Italy, Canada, Newfoundland, Jamaica, New South Wales, Victoria, New Zealand, Queensland, the Cape Colony, the Windward Islands, (embracing the Islands of Barbadoes, Grenada, St Vincent and St Lucia), the Leeward Islands (consisting of the Presidencies of Antigua, St Christopher—Nevis, Dominica, Montserat and the Virgin Islands), Belgium, Portugal, Tasmania, the Hawaiian Kingdom, Sweden, Japan, Norway, Denmark, and the Netherlands.

MERCANTILE APPRAISERS.

1430 South Penn Square.

Appointed jointly by Auditor-General of Pennsylvania and City Treasurer for three years.

Appraisers.

George L. Horn, president; William Harkness, jr., secretary; John P. Harlan, treasurer; J. Fletcher Conrad, John P. Nicholson.

Appraisers classify merchants, shopkeepers, etc., according to amount of their annual sales. They are required to take out license according to class in which they are assessed, and pay license tax of the class. The fees of the City Treasurer, in Philadelphia, to be paid, with the tax, amount in each class to 50 cents, and are added to charges as contained in following table:

Class.	Annual Sales.	License Tax.
14	$1,000 to $5,000	$7 50
13	5,000 to 10,000	10 50
12	10,000 to 15,000	13 00
11	15,000 to 20,000	15 50
10	20,000 to 30,000	20 50
9	30,000 to 40,000	25 50
8	40,000 to 50,000	30 50
7	50,000 to 60,000	40 50
6	60,000 to 75,000	50 50
5	75,000 to 85,000	60 50
4	85,000 to 100,000	80 50
3	100,000 to 200,000	100 50
2	200,000 to 300,000	150 50
1	300,000 to 500,000	200 50
A	500,000 to 1,000,000	350 50
B	1,000,000 to 2,000,000	450 50
C	2,000,000 to 3,000,000	600 50
D	3,000,000 to 4,000,000	800 50
E	4,000,000 to 5,000,000	900 50
F	5,000,000 and upward.	1,000.50

Exceptions—No person whose annual sales do not exceed $1,000 is required to take out a license. No feme-sole trader or single woman, whose sales do not exceed $2,500 (vendors of wines or liquors excepted), is required to take out a license. No importer of foreign goods, selling original package, as imported, is required to take out a license. Manufacturers or mechanics, not having a store or warehouse apart from their manufactory or workshop, for purpose of vending goods, not required to pay annual tax and license required of foreign dealers. Manufacturers and mechanics who sell other goods other than their own manufacture, not exceeding the sum or value of $500 per annum, are not required to pay an annual tax or license fee; if such sales exceed $500 per annum, they are required to pay same annual tax as now required to be paid by dealers.

Special Licenses, at special rates, are required to be taken out by brewers and distillers, billiard saloon and bowling-alley proprietors, brokers, auctioneers, tavern-keepers, proprietors of restaurants, eating-houses, etc., and wholesale liquor dealers. Board of Appraisers sit during May of each year to hear and act upon appeals of all classes, except wholesale liquor dealers, bottlers, brewers, distillers, rectifiers and retail liquor dealers.

PLACES OF INTEREST IN PHILADELPHIA.

ACADEMY OF FINE ARTS.

The Academy of Fine Arts, at the corner of Broad and Cherry streets, is a handsome structure in the Byzantine or Venetian style of architecture. Over the portal on Broad street stands a mutilated colossal statue, in marble, of the goddess Ceres. The second story is reached from a noble hall forty feet square by a grand flight of stairs fifteen feet in breadth. Here the entrance to the art galleries is made through a noble vestibule enriched by thirty-one polished columns of rose-crystal marble, with polished black marble bases and richly sculptured capitals. Eighteen of them support the pointed arches which enclose three sides of the hall on the second story, seven support the stair-landings, and from four of magnificent proportions and beautiful in color and quality springs the ponderous archway that spans the main stairway. The galleries are all lighted from the ceiling, and are arranged in the most approved method. In the centre gallery is a very fine piece of statuary in the heroic group by Lough, of the "Battle of the Centaurs and Lapithæ," and the more important marbles are "Jerusalem," by Story, "Penelope," by Ripaldini, "Deborah" by Lombardi, "The Prodigal Son" by Mosier, Power's bust of "Proserpine," and Palmer's "Spring." The galleries of the upper stories are occupied by the statuary collection, which is very fine. The Academy is open to the public every day, and on Sunday from one until six o'clock. On week-days 25 cents is charged for admission, but on Sunday admission is free.

ACADEMY OF NATURAL SCIENCES.

This massive and imposing Gothic structure is situated at Nineteenth and Race streets, where it was erected in 1875. It is 186 by 83 feet, and on the second floor is a well-lighted museum, 180 by 60 feet, which contains upward of 750,000 specimens—anatomical, paleontological, botanical, etc. The library which is 130 by 100 feet, contains over 40,000 books and pamphlets, many of which are very rare. Admission is by ticket, which can be obtained of members of the society.

CARPENTER'S HALL.

Carpenter's Hall is located off Chestnut street, between Third and Fourth. It was built by the Guild of Carpenters before the Revolution, and in its hall the first Continental Congress assembled on September 5, 1774. From the deliberations of this Congress the National Government came into existence.

CHRIST CHURCH.

This old and interesting structure stands on Second street, above Market. It was built in 1727-31, on the site of the old church, which was erected in 1695. It is 90 feet long by 60 wide and has a brick tower surmounted by a wooden steeple 190 feet high. This latter contains a chime of bells cast in London about the middle of the last century. Christ Church is one of the most interesting relics of Colonial days, and will amply repay a visit.

CITY HALL.

The pride and glory of Philadelphia is the new City Hall and Public Buildings, where the offices of the municipal government are situated and the State and City Courts of Law. The work of the great building was commenced on the 16th of August, 1871, and the cornerstone was laid with imposing ceremonies on the Fourth of July, 1874. The great pile of white marble, which is larger than any single building on this continent, is surrounded by a grand avenue 135 feet wide on the southern, eastern and western fronts; 205 feet wide on the northern front. The dimensions are 470 feet from east to west, and 486½ feet from north to south, covering an area, exclusive of the courtyards, of nearly four and a half acres. The superstructure consists of a basement story 18 feet in height, a principal story 36 feet, and an upper story of 31 feet, surmounted by another of 15 feet. The different stories are approached by four large elevators placed at the intersections of the leading corridors. In addition to these, there are grand staircases at each of the four corners of the building, and one in each of the centre pavilions on the north, south, east and west fronts. The entire structure contains five hundred and twenty rooms, fitted with every modern convenience, including heat, light and ventilation, the whole building being absolutely fire-proof and indestructible. In the centre of the building an immense court-yard, 200 feet square, affords light and air. From the north side rises a grand tower, the foundations of which are laid on a solid bed of concrete 8 feet thick, at a depth of 20 feet below the surface of the ground; and its walls, which are at the base 22 feet in thickness, are built of dressed Virginia granite, the blocks weighing from two to five tons each. The tower is 90 feet square at the base, falling off at each story until it becomes, at the spring of the dome, an octagon of 50 feet in diameter. On this lofty pedestal a statue of William Penn, 30 feet in height, has been placed to crown the edifice.

CUSTOM HOUSE.

The Custom House occupies a prominent position on Chestnut above Fourth street. It was originally erected (1819-1824), for the Second United States Bank. It was modeled after the Parthenon at Athens, and is said to be the finest example of the Doric order of architecture in the world.

EASTERN PENITENTIARY.

This massive structure occupies eleven acres of ground lying between Brown street, Fairmount avenue, Corinthian avenue and Twenty-second street. It was built in 1824, and was long considered a model prison, celebrated for its solitary confinement system. Visitors are admitted by ticket obtained at the Mayor's office or from any member of the Prison Board.

FAIRMOUNT PARK.

With all Philadelphia's fine buildings, handsome churches, ancient relics and historic recollections, her greatest beauty and genuine attraction is undoubtedly the beautiful Park of Fairmount. Situated on the east and west banks of the Schuylkill, which has been immortalized in song by Tom Moore. Fairmount extends along the Wissahickon creek to Chestnut Hill, on both sides of the stream. The total distance from the Callowhill street entrance to the extreme northeast Park boundary is thirteen miles, and on the west side of the Schuylkill it stretches from Spring Garden street bridge to Chamounix and Roberts Hollow, about four miles and a half. The Park contains 2,740 acres, and, next to Windsor and Epping forests in England, and the Prater in Vienna, it is the largest park in the world. For beauty of scenery and magnificent trees, lovely glades and sylvan dells, it is unsurpassed by any park in the world; and it is, in fact, the noblest garden that any great city could possibly desire to possess.

FORT MIFFLIN.

This relic of Colonial times lies at the mouth of the Schuylkill river. It is of historic interest as having played a part in the War of the Revolution, but otherwise does not possess any feature of special interest.

FRANKFORD ARSENAL.

This is the largest and most important Government arsenal in the United States. It is located on Frankford creek, near Bridesburg, and also fronts on the Delaware river.

FRANKLIN'S GRAVE.

An unpretending stone slab in the northwest corner of Christ Church Cemetery, on Arch street, between Fourth and Fifth, marks the grave of Benjamin Franklin and his wife Deborah. It may be seen through an iron railing in the wall, made for the purpose. Christ Church Cemetery contains also the graves of many Revolutionary heroes, and a visit to it will amply repay the trouble.

FRANKLIN INSTITUTE.

This institute, which was founded in 1824 by Samuel V. Merrick, is situated on the east side of Seventh street, above Chestnut. Its object is the promotion of the mechanic arts, and gratuitous instruction is imparted through the medium of lectures and a school attached to the institution. The building, which is a plain marble edifice, contains an excellent library of about 60,000 volumes and pamphlets on scientific subjects.

GIRARD COLLEGE.

One of the greatest benefactors to Philadelphia, and one who will be blessed more and more by generations yet to come, was Stephen Girard, the mariner merchant. He settled in Philadelphia in 1777 and died in 1831, leaving a fortune of $7,500,000. Beside the many bequests for the benefit of his adopted city, he left a large portion of his fortune for the endowment of a college for white male orphans between the ages of six and ten years. This formed Girard College, which is, without exception, the finest institution in Philadelphia, and one of the best in the whole country. The college grounds stretch irregularly from Nineteenth street and Ridge avenue nearly to Twenty-sixth street, and from Girard avenue and Poplar street nearly to Master street, the buildings forming an imposing series of scholastic edifices. The central building is probably the grandest existing specimen of the Corinthian temple architecture. Here about 1,500 students receive the rudiments of education up to the grade of the high-school studies. Admission to Girard College is by ticket, which can be obtained at the Public Ledger office, Sixth and Chestnut streets.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY'S HALL.

The Historical Society of Pennsylvania, which was chartered in 1826, has its building on the southwest corner of Thirteenth and Locust streets. The library contains a vast collection of historical treasures, which are open to the inspection of visitors without charge.

HORTICULTURAL HALL, FAIRMOUNT PARK.

This was erected as one of the Centennial buildings, and has since been maintained at the expense of the city. It is built in the Moorish style of architecture and contains a varied collection of tropical and other plants. Admission free.

HOSPITALS.

There are thirty hospitals in Philadelphia, each of them well appointed and with an efficient staff of physicians and surgeons. The Pennsylvania

Hospital occupies a whole square, bounded by Eighth, Ninth, Spruce and Pine streets. It is the oldest hospital in the city, and was founded by Dr. Thomas Bond in 1750. It is the first hospital that was established in the American Colonies, and over a quarter of a million persons have been admitted and carefully treated. In connection with this hospital are two branches for insane patients, male and female, situated in West Philadelphia. The Philadelphia Hospital adjoins the Blockley Almshouse, also in West Philadelphia. The Episcopal Hospital, at Lehigh avenue and Front streets, is a splendid establishment in the Norman style of architecture, and its capacity is 350 beds. It is in the centre of a large manufacturing district, and severe accidents are very frequent, rendering it a great boon to the northern part of the city. The hospital of the University of Pennsylvania is also a fine institution, formed by the University in 1871. It is capable of accommodating one hundred and forty-six patients. There are also the Women's Hospital, the German Eye and Ear Infirmary, the Municipal Hospital, the Presbyterian Hospital, St. Mary's Hospital, Wills Hospital for Diseases of the Eye, the German Hospital, and the Friends' Asylum for the Insane, besides thirteen dispensaries for the free distribution of drugs and medicines to the poor.

INDEPENDENCE HALL.

The most famous of the old-time buildings of Philadelphia is Independence Hall, a modest brick structure, on Chestnut street above Fifth. Its erection was begun in 1732, and completed in 1741. It was then the State House, and was used for the legislative sessions of the Colonial Assembly of Congress from 1775 until 1800 and by the State Legislature until the removal of the capital to Harrisburg in 1804. Here, on the 4th of July, 1776, the immortal Declaration of Independence was adopted, and on the 8th it was publicly read to the people, who, called together by the ringing of the old "Liberty Bell," had assembled outside. The two great rooms on the first floor of Independence Hall are filled with relics of Revolutionary days, while from a dome in the centre is suspended the old bell that once "proclaimed liberty throughout all the land." Admission to the hall is free.

LIBRARIES.

Philadelphia is rich in libraries and associations for the dissemination of knowledge. The Philadelphia Library, at the corner of Locust and Juniper streets, is one of the most complete of its kind and is greatly patronized. It comprises about 165,000 volumes, and was instituted by Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Hopkinson, Thomas Cadwalader and others, in 1731. The Ridgway Library is also in connect on with the Philadelphia Library. It is an imposing pile of granite, at the southeast corner of Broad and Christian streets, containing 185,000 volumes. Dr. James Rush, who died in 1869, left $1,500,000 in trust to erect an immense library to be appropriated to the use of the Philadelphia Library Company under certain conditions. The name Ridgway was adopted from the name of Dr. Rush's wife before marriage; she was a daughter of Jacob Ridgway, a rich merchant of Philadelphia. The Mercantile Library, on Tenth street between Chestnut and Market, contains about 130,000 volumes, and has a large number of periodical publications, both foreign and American. The Athenæum Library and Reading Room, at Sixth and Adelphi streets, is much resorted to by lawyers and down-town business men. The Apprentices' Library, at Fifth and Arch streets, is noted for its fine collection of books for boys and girls; it was instituted in 1820. The Friends' Library, at 304 Arch street, has over 8,000 volumes, largely relating to Quakers, their progress and history. Then there are the Law Association Library, the Southwark Library Company, the City Institute, the Merchants' Institute, Kensington Institute Library, The Historical Society of Pennsylvania and many others. It is estimated that there are four thousand libraries in Philadelphia containing over 3,000,000 volumes.

MASONIC TEMPLE.

On the northeast corner of Broad and Filbert streets stands the Masonic Temple, one of the most imposing structures in the city. Its cornerstone was laid in 1868, and in 1873 the building, which cost more than $1,500,000, was completed. It is built of granite, with a frontage on Broad street of 150 feet and a depth of 245 feet. The external style of architecture is Norman, but in the interior other styles prevail. Seven lodge-rooms, known as the Corinthian Hall, the Ionic Hall, the Egyptian Hall, the Norman Hall, the Gothic Hall, the Renaissance Hall, and the Oriental Hall, together with a splendidly appointed banquet Hall, constitute the principal features of the interior. Visitors are admitted on the introduction of a member of the Order.

MASTER BUILDERS' EXCHANGE.

Opposite the Franklin Institute, on Seventh street, between Market and Chestnut, are the premises owned and occupied by the Master Builders' Exchange. On the first floor of this building is exhibited a fine display of all the materials used in the construction of houses. In the basement is conducted a Mechanical Trade School, which affords instruction in the various building trades. Admission to the building is free to the public.

MEMORIAL HALL.

At the close of the Centennial, the building known as the Art Hall was converted into a Memorial Hall by a charter obtained to establish the Pennsylvania Museum and School of Industrial Art. It is built of Virginia and Massachusetts granite, and cost $1,500,000. The hall is 365 feet in length, 210 feet wide, and 54 feet high, and is surmounted by a dome of glass and iron, the top of which is 150 feet from the ground. The eight arched windows of the corner towers are utilized for art displays, and the iron doors of the front are inlaid with bronze panels bearing the insignia of the States. Admission is free, and every visitor to Fairmount Park should make it a point to see Memorial Hall.

MOYAMENSING PRISON.

This institution is located on Passyunk avenue above Dickinson street. It consists of a square central building, with wings on either side. It has 400 cells for males and 100 for females. Permits for visiting the prison are obtained at the Mayor's Office.

POST-OFFICE.

The building popularly known as the Post-Office—though it is occupied by the offices of various Government departments—fronts on Ninth street, between Chestnut and Market. It is built of granite, is four stories in height, and is surmounted by a dome which reaches to the height of 170 feet above the level of the street. The upper stories are reached by hydraulic elevators and two spacious and massive stairways.

THE DREXEL INSTITUTE.

The Drexel Institute, founded by Anthony J. Drexel, for the promotion of education in art, science and industry, was formally opened on December 17, 1891. The chief object of the Institute is the extension and improvement of industrial education as a means of opening better and wider avenues of employment to young men and women. It is the founder's desire, however, that the plan of organization should be comprehensive, providing liberal means of culture for the masses through the instrumentality of lectures, evening classes, a library and a museum.

The Institute is situated on Chestnut street, corner of Thirty-second street, at a point where many horse railways converge, within easy distance of the Powelton avenue and the South street stations of the Pennsylvania railroad, and but three squares from the station of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

The building, constructed of light buff brick with terra-cotta ornamentation, measures on the ground plan 200 by 200 feet, and is four stories in height. The principal entrance is on Chestnut street, by a richly decorated portal, 26 feet wide and 35 feet high, which leads through a portico to a spacious entrance hall, the ceiling of which is supported by pillars of red Georgian marble. Beyond this is the grand central court or quadrangle, 65 feet square and the entire height of the building, the ceiling being a skylight of stained glass. At the farther end of the court are the stairways leading to the upper floors and to the basement. Broad galleries surround the central court and give access to the various class-rooms, laboratories and studios on the upper floors.

On the first floor are the library, the reading-room, the museum, the lecture-hall and the auditorium. The lecture-hall has chairs for two hundred and fifty pupils. The auditorium, which has a separate entrance on Thirty-second street, is a spacious and finely equipped hall capable of seating fifteen hundred persons. It is furnished with upholstered arm-chairs. The stage is at the eastern end, and is decorated in the style of the Italian Renaissance.

Thirty-two class rooms, studios and work-shops occupy the second, third and fourth floors and the basement, the work-shops being situated in the basement, and the physical and chemical laboratories on the second and third floors, respectively. On the fourth floor is a large gymnasium, with which are connected dressing-rooms and bath rooms.

The building is heated by steam and lighted by electricity. Every care has been taken with regard to ventilating and equible heating.

The Institute will have the following departments:

I. The Art Department.
II. The Scientific Department.
III. The Department of Mechanical Arts.
IV. The Department of Domestic Economy.
V. The Technical Department.
VI. The Business Department.
VII. The Department of Physical Training.
VIII. The Normal Department for the Training of Teachers.
IX. The Department of Lectures and Evening Classes.
X. The Library and Reading Room.
XI. The Museum.

THE MINT.

This substantial structure, which was built in 1832, stands on Chestnut street below Broad. The machinery for the rolling, preparing and coining of money is unique and superior, and all the processes may be seen by visitors under proper guides. Admission is free from 10 a. m. until 12 noon daily.

UNION LEAGUE.

The imposing and substantial building, erected by the Union League, stands at the southwest corner of Broad and Sansom streets. It contains some valuable historic relics, statuary and paintings, and is well worthy of a visit. Strangers are introduced by members of the League.

UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA.

This splendid series of structures occupy grounds in West Philadelphia, extending from Pine street to Woodland avenue, and from Thirty-fourth street to Thirty-seventh street. The buildings of the University form an attractive and picturesque group, and strangers in the city should make a point of visiting them. Admission is free.

ZOOLOGICAL GARDEN.

One of the chief points of interest in the city is the Zoological Garden, which is located on the west bank of the Schuylkill, south of Girard avenue. The tract contains thirty-three acres, and is beautifully laid out and kept. The collection of wild animals, birds, cetacea, serpents, and other living creatures is unique, and is the only one in this country that can approach the collections in the great Zoological Gardens of Europe. Admission to the Garden is 25 cents, and access to it is had by the Pennsylvania railroad to Zoological station; also by Zoological branch of the Race and Vine streets passenger railway, by Girard avenue branch of the People's passenger railway, and by West Philadelphia branch of Lombard and South streets railway.

Streets and Numbers.

By the decimal system of numbering, one hundred numbers being awarded to each square, any person can easily determine the exact location of any given number. Market street is the dividing line for those streets running north and south; those above Market street are called North, as North Second; those below Market are called South, as South Third, etc. The odd numbers are on the east side, and even numbers on the west. Thus, No. 226 N. Second would be on the west side of the street, between Race and Vine. No. 227 S. Second on the east side of the street, between Walnut and Spruce. No. 226 Chestnut is between Second and Third, and so on. Streets running east and west have the even numbers on the south side and odd numbers on the north side. The following are the names of the streets running parallel to Market street, north and south thereof. Persons unacquainted with the city should, at the outset, become familiar with the system of numbering the houses.
